Stonewall Jackson Hotel and More!

Our next event will begin with a visit to the Stonewall Jackson Hotel in Staunton on Sunday, September 10.

At noon, see and hear the unique Wurlitzer 105 2/3. The instrument was beautifully restored by Shenandoah Organ Studio (Bob Lent) in 2005. Bob will demonstrate the organ as well as show us the organ chamber.

From there, we will travel to Lyndhurst (just east of Waynesboro) for a demonstration of Bob's custom voiced Hauptwerk Paramount 341 Wurlitzer. The console is a three manual Balaban nicknamed "Goldie."

The realistic sound of the voicing and room acoustics are astounding! You will be looking for the pipes!

And you can see the pipes from the former Tower Theatre in Upper Darby Township, Pennsylvania. Bob saved this organ and plans to use parts to augment the Hauptwerk as a hybrid instrument.

Then see the work in progress of a reproduction four manual Fox Theatre console that Bob is building.

Following will be open console and a cookout that Bob and his wife Jean have graciously offered to host.

It will be a fun, exciting, memorable day! An RSVP e-mail with details will be sent and carpooling will be arranged.

An Afternoon of Fun on May 20

Members attended an informal meeting and instrument demonstration at the home of Al Loth on May 20.

Al played a fun concert demonstrating his interconnected Roland 900C console, Wersi unit, and Hauptwerk Paramount 332. Open console, social time, and excellent food capped off a fun afternoon.

Hardman Studio - Richard Hills

On June 24 and 25, renowned British organist Richard Hills played concerts on the Hardman Studio 4/38 Wurlitzer. In the words of those who attended, "it doesn't get any better than this!"

Booth at Regional AGO Convention

ODTOS hosted an information booth during the American Guild of Organists (AGO) regional convention held in Richmond June 25 - 28.

Thanks to all who helped by putting the booth together and providing information to AGO members about the work of ATOS and ODTOS.
